General Information

Short summary

This French Fashion House has a particular expertise in the tailoring of luxury dresses. In order to increase its production, it is seeking a dressmaking factory to produce the new collection.

Full description

Established in Paris 5 years ago, the French Fashion House has been designing and making top-of-the-range evening dresses.

The company is already made up of a design office and a production part. All the work is completely handmade and each creation benefits from applied precious know-how.

The company chooses only the best quality fabrics such as silk, organza or embroidered tulle in order to guarantee final clothes of utmost quality. Today, these creations are sold in France and will be sold in an international showroom too in the near future.

In order to expand its market throughout Europe, the company is looking for a manufacture textile specialised in top-of-the-range dresses. This manufacturing partner will allow to make a little serial production for the new collection.

Advantages and innovations

- All fabrics are from Europe (precious fabrics like silk, organza and biological fabrics).
- The whole conception and production process takes place in France.
- All the work is completely handmade and a precious haute-couture know-how applies to each single creation.

Technical specification or expertise sought

The company is looking for a manufacturing business able to make luxury dress and tailoring in small or medium production. The project will be to make two collections every year, including clothes. The production has to be between € 100 and € 300 for each product.
