General Information

Short summary

A Swedish start-up aspires to launch their self-designed asphalt shoe. Hence, the company is searching for a manufacturer able to produce the requested products according to the company's design, measurements, and functions.

Full description

The Swedish start-up, founded by a couple active in the construction industry, plans to launch their self-designed line of asphalt shoes under own brand. The company is searching for an experienced manufacturer of safety shoes, preferably within the EU, to produce the desired products according to the company's requested design, measurements, and functions, under supplier agreement.

Requested key functions include nitrile rubber outsole to ensure heat, oil, and acid resistance, and protective composite toe cap. Measurements and design include shoe sizes between EU 41-45, and black as preferable color of textile materials. The company has a 3D-visualization of the design available for demonstration. 3D-visualization and additional product information, including design, will be shared provided a signed NDA. Estimated order volume to be discussed with interested manufactures.
